Yellow warning
Snow & Ice

Between 21:00 Mon 1 Feb 2021 and
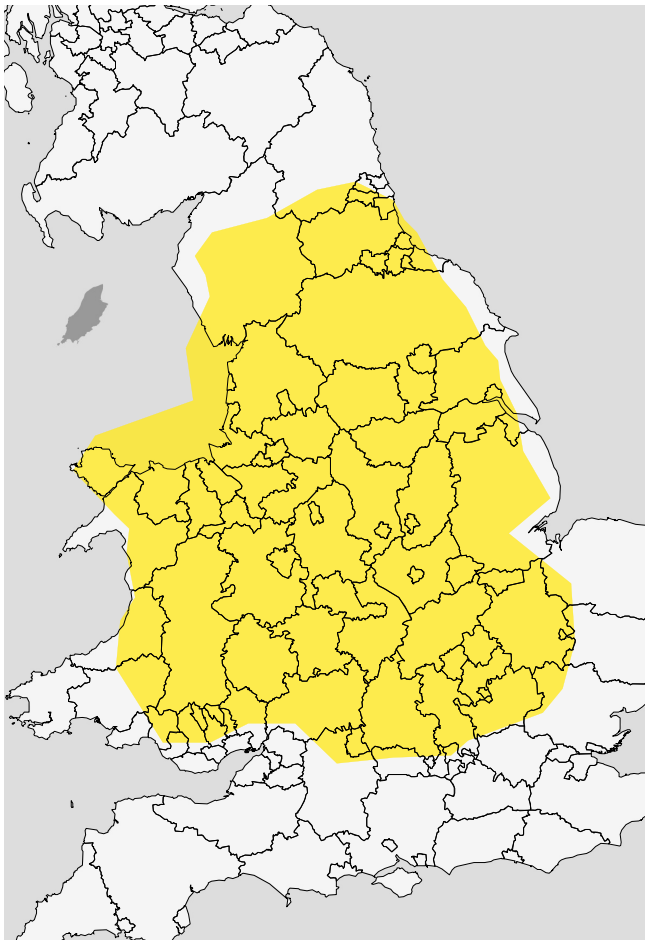
23:45 Wed 3 Feb 2021



Snow, with a risk of widespread ice, is likely to push slowly northeast from late Monday, bringing difficult travel conditions.

What to expect

- Possible travel delays on roads stranding some vehicles and passengers, with bus and train services potentially delayed or cancelled. Some road closures and longer journey times are possible
- Possible delays or cancellations air travel
- Some rural communities could become cut off
- Power cuts may occur and other services, such as mobile phone coverage, may be affected
- A chance of injuries from slips and falls on icy surfaces
- Untreated pavements and cycle paths might be impassable

Further details

A band of rain, locally heavy in places, is likely to push slowly northeast across Wales and England late Monday. As this rain comes into contact with cold air in place, it is likely to readily turn to snow across parts of Wales, the Midlands, and later parts of northern England. 1-4 cm of snow is quite likely away from coasts, with 5-10 cm possible above about 150 metres.

As well as snow, a period of freezing rain is possible for parts of east Wales and the West and South Midlands.

Snow should turn back to rain from the south, lasting longest across parts of northern England.

Very low likelihood of medium impacts
